WRESTLING THEN & NOW

Evan Ginzburg-Editor/Publisher P.O. Box 471 Oakland Gardens Station Flushing, NY 11364

I used to live for the WWF Madison Square Garden cards. I was a teen in the 70's and on the nights before the show I was so excited I could barely sleep. Back then when they said Madison Square Garden was the mecca of professional wrestling, it was more than just hype. It was a shrine and once a month I'd go to worship.

It's been years now since I've set foot in MSG. Last time I was there Bruno Sammartino and Tito Santana trashed Adrian Adonis and Randy Savage in a damn good cage match. It feels like ages ago. Bruno's retired, Adrian's dead, and now that MSG's just another stop on the WWF's traveling circus, the Garden's dead to me too.

I'm not going to go into a whole diatribe against the WWF; my fellow sheet editors have covered the once great federation's painful commercialization and deterioration in far greater depth than I'm willing to. I'd much rather think back to that magic time when Bruno and Ivan Koloff with no more than "a pair of tights" would sell the 22,000 seater out for three straight months. Or when blond bomber Pat Patterson faced Bob Backlund for four consecutive classic main-events. Or when the Original Tiger Mask met the Dynamite Kid...

The memories go on and on, but that's the sad thing. Now, they're just memories.

WRESTLING THEN AND NOW is published monthly at $1.25 a copy. 6 issue subscriptions are available for $6.00. Overseas add $1.00 per issue (please send U.S. postal orders in U.S. funds).

Hard to believe it's issue 5 already! Which brings me to some points of business. Many of my readers have been with me since the beginning, and your subscriptions run out very shortly. I hope I can count on your continued support in the upcoming months and years ahead. I've been delighted by the critical response to WT&N, and the numbers of readers are increasing at a slow but steady pace (of equal importance is that as the reputation of the sheet grows, so does the number of quality correspondents). However, WT&N is still small enough where even the loss of a few readers would hurt...please spread the word...

Before I get on with the show, I just wanted to announce that next issue will see a special column from veteran correspondent Dan Reilly relating his childhood experiences at the Teaneck Armory in N.J. Also a nostalgia focus on the AWA circa 1978, the notorious Rodney Leighton's Reader Profile, and the return of The Wrestling Time Machine and our usual features. It's our big 6 month anniversary issue and I hope you'll all be here for it...

NEWS

One of Germany's biggest promoters is 27 year old Petra Nordhoff who also is an unbeaten female wrestler...the fall of the Berlin wall also brings Pro Wrestling into East Germany with former grappling great Oscar "Crusher" Verdu making a move on this wide open territory...CWA promoter Otta Wanz has been proclaiming to the German press that Koji Kitaro due in and will be wrestling for him...

In the 10 years too late department, The Iron Sheik meets Ken Patera in a steel cage with special guest ref Bruno Sammartino in Atco, NJ 6/13.

Words out that Bobo Brazil's still wrestling some indies in the Detroit area. If that's true, I guesstimate the guy's at least 107 years old...

DR. SCOTT'S DENTAL ADVICE FOR THE STARS

Having become a cult figure after his classic "Lifestyles Of The Pathetic & and Hopeless" appearance in Issue #3, I invited Dr. Scott back to WT&N. He told me he was "surprised" at just how good most of the wrestlers' teeth were (particularly Ted Dibiase who had a "perfect" smile), but he insisted on the following:

CURT HENNIG-- "Needs Ginguoplastophy and bonding to make his teeth bigger." (Hey Doc, If Curt wears the big gold Inter-Continental belt to social events, would it distract from his "small teeth?"--E.G.)

KAMALA-- "Could use a fixed bridge" (Do they makes those in the wilds of Uganda?-E.G.)

SHEEPWACKERS-- Need partial dentures.."hope I don't bore your readers because it's really the same problem as Kamala's." (They'll forgive you pal, there's no aspect of wrestling- not even gumlines- that doesn't interest the hardcore reader!-E.G.)

NIKOLAI VOLKOFF-- "The gold crown's an eyesore. I could make him look much better." (With or without the gold, the guy's not going to win any beauty contests!-E.G.)

I'd just like to thank the good Dr. for taking the time out of his busy schedule to provide us with this revealing look; it's truly a memorable article, and another reason why WT&N is always at the forefront of wrestling journalism...

READER PROFILE- JEFF OSBORNE

I started watching Memphis wrestling as a youngster on Evansville Indiana's Channel 7 which was the most highly rated wrestling show in the U.S. My first card included a match between Mr. Fuji and a young jobber in which midway through the match Fuji was caught in a sunset flip with the jobber taking his pants down to his knees, exposing his "rising sun." A very memorable first card that was!

What's all this talk of ref bumps? Well, how about fan bumps? I was a picture buff up until the mid-80's and my most memorable bump while taking pix occured when Bill Dundee and Steve Kiern took on Bobby Eaton and Koko Ware. The bout included an explosive arena brawl where Dundee and Eaton battled by the concession stand. I followed the action with my trusty 35 millimeter only to witness Eaton nail Dundee with a trashcan sending him in orbit to hit yourstruly, sending me to the arena floor. Those were the days when 5,000 people packed the Evansville Coliseum, but now attendance is in the 300 range. It's hard to believe when I interview wrestlers that I'm parking in the same spot as Jesse Ventura, Scott Steiner, Stan Hanson, Bobby Eaton, Sting, The Ultimate Warrior, Randy Savage, and even The Road Warriors, Hulk Hogan and Terry Funk. Wow, Memphis has really changed. Guess that explains wrestling then & now...

Editor's note- Fuji's "rising sun", huh? A scary thought! Jeff's one of my favorite people in 'rasslin and his Cassette Wrestling News is great fun. Billy Travis and the boys regularly appear on exclusive interviews as well. Forgot to mention the address last time around so I'll do it in boldface this time to compensate! JEFF OSBORNE--PO Box 765 Boonville, IN. 47601. Jeff also sells videos (35 cents for list) & a Dream Wars tape of imaginary matches for $5. He's offering a sample of CWN to my readers for $2 plus .45¢ postage which is a great deal as it regularly goes for $3. CHECKITOUT!

NOSTALGIA PROFILE- HELLS ANGELS

Real names, Chuck Harris (aka Paul Dupree, aka Chris Colt) and Russ Grobes (aka Ron Dupree). Starting as a tagteam in the Michigan area and former world champions, these two authentic characters caused so much heat and trouble they were eventually canned. Too many riots and too many risks. They went to Arizona where they were quickly fired and caused the local wrestling program to go off the air when to "get heat" from the fans, they burned an American flag on tv. The two later returned as The Comancheros, because "The Hells Angels" had been legitimately banned by a then very active athletic commission and somehow the new stunt worked, thanks to a friend of the promoter, who got them relicensed under other names. They stayed in the southwest until 1971, went back to Detroit , then to Arizona again. It was here Ron Dupress suffered his first major heart attack and quit wrestling to manage. They headed to Washington and there, Dupree suffered a final fatal heart attack, bringing their era to a close. While their violence went to extremes, they were undoubtedly one of the best two villains in modern wrestling history and those who saw them in action would undoubtedly agree.

NOSTALGIA FOCUS- FLORIDA 1978

One of the thrills of watching Florida wrestling on T.V. was getting to see highlights of arena cards, with the great Gordon Solie making each event sound as important as an Ali-Frazier fight. It was great T.V., and when I finally vacationed in Florida for 3 weeks in '86, it was like fulfilling a dream. I saw tough Wahoo McDaniels lose a cage match to Flair and actually saw Sullivan's army of Roop & Lewin carrying on something awful! A very young Lex Luger took on Jesse Barr who later became Jimmy Jack Funk. In this piece we go back to a great time when the NWA & WWF actually worked hand in hand as you can see from some of these results...

ENCOUNTERING THE STARS FROM THE PAST

Autograph seekers are nothing new to wrestling, although many of the modern crop of stars tends to consist of a bunch of overpaid, overly-indulgent pains in the butt. The WWF staff has caused constant irritation to autograph seeking fans in the past few years, while the wrestlers of today, barring some exceptions, consider their fans as nothing but airheads, forgetting fan attendance is what makes them rich. In older days, the "villains" would never sign autographs when there were people around, in order not to hurt their image, but would be cordial enough when corned alone. Nowadays, the top babyfaces behave worse than the heels of the past, playing a role. With these people, it's no act, as anyone told to "F--- Off" by Dusty Rhodes would verify. This article offers a look at what some of wrestling's classier acts were like.

LOU THESZ- Always came to the arena in a suit and tie. Never wore flashy clothes into the ring though, just boots, trunks, a robe, and a towel around his neck. Here is a legend in all respects of the word and some of the big shots of today couldn't make a pimple on his behind. He could go too, meaning if he wanted to, he could tie anyone he was working with into knots. Always extremely polite to ring attendants, fans, and others at the shows. When signing autographs before or after a show, he would usually mention something about liking the fans, which was genuine, and carry on brief conversations with autograph seekers.

FRED CURRY- His father, the late Bull Curry, always played the heel, enjoyed scaring fans, and would never sign autographs, just to get a kick out of the super badguy he portrayed, but all this time played a role, not adopting to this who-gives-a-damn-about-the-fans-attitude many current stars have. Fred aparently hated autographs for real, but like his father's obligatory villainous refusals, his obligatory baby face role forced him to sign whether he liked it or now. When I approached him for an autograph as he was heading back from the ring, he mumbled "Later, if I sign one I'll have to sign them all." He then stopped, sighed, signed the book anyway, and went on. he reportedly didn't think too much of the fans, but never let them know it.

LUIS MARTINEZ- It looked funny to see him arrive at the arena wearing those Mr. McGoo glasses, as he reportedly had the worst eyesight in the business. He always was well-liked by the fans. A born-again Christian who would pray constantly, but drink a case of beer in one night, he truly loved people. His enjoyment in meeting fans, talking to them, and signing an almost illegible autograph was not feigned.

RAY STEVENS- A nervous, little man, who I remember smoking a lot if I'm not mistaken. He would carry on brief conversations with fans and also sign autographs when approached outside the dressing room. he always seemed a bit uncomforable though, when not in front of the crowd.

BOBBY JAGGERS- A big, friendly man; I used to take pictures of him and give them to him. Although I never knew it, he in turn, would fight, bleed, and fall directly in front of me for better shots. I remember one bout he had with Kurt von Steiger, where he and Steiger came out of the ring and started fighting in front of me, but I was chaging roles of film. Not to worry. They went back into the ring and two minutes later brought the action in front of me again. Since I got to know Jaggers well for the time, he would always take my autograph book back to the dressing room and get it signed by any newcomer on the card. All this was when he was one of the top heels, not babyfaces, in the area.

LETTERS

I must thank you most sincerely for Issue No. 1 of WRESTLING THEN & NOW. This arrived on Feb. 15, not long before my wife and I took off for a holiday in Australia, hence the delay in writing. Might I say how much I enjoyed the first issue and I hope it has a long life.

I am enclosing $12 US which you can use towards future issues for me. I acquired these dollars from my son Glenn following his trip to N.Y. last year. I have been holding on to the money for I knew it would come in useful one of these days. That day has arrived!

On the wrestling scene in this country we have had some activity recently. First, we have had a three card promotion staged by the Arena Wrestling Association.,,they were staged at Christchurch on April 7, 1990, Auckland April 8, and Wellington April 9.

The same cards were presented in each venue namely-

The Bushwhackers W The Bolsheviks
Don Muraco W Haku
Norman Smiley W Cowboy Bob Orton
Pittbulls W Steve Strong-Mando Yanez
Tom Magee W Royal Viking
Jim Powers W Abbuda Dein (he is, I believe, the son of King Curtis Iaukea).

Well, had better close and keep up the good work.

Evan, you are much like a Detroiter- I mean I like your honest/fresh style. Reminds me of Eddie Malone on the staff of my own Headlock Reporter.

I am mailing you issue #5 of the second book HR publishes- the only recognized fictional "Mainstream" comic/text serial on pro wrestling, "Boston and Goldie." It would take me four prior issues to explain it, so, just take my word- enjoy it.

It does contain lady wrestlers, and non-wrestling parts-but, it has been an instant favorite with those in and out of the sport!

(Shelton's"Boston & Goldie" Is available for $4 from Box 293, Clawson, Mich 48017-0293.)

I read your "A Piece of My Mind" column where you offered a sample issue of Wrestling-Then & Now to new readers. I'd like a copy to see what it's like. Let me tell you this, you are my favorite columnist in "AR."

JOHN HERRON
Marble Hill, Mo.

Well, let me tell you this, John...stop sending money to Ron & send it to me instead! Just kidding, dude. Thanks! Ron Lemieux's Arena Report continues to be one of the warmest bulletins out there- great match coverage & an occasional scoop too--a steal at .75¢ from 916 Sloewood Ct. Lake Mary, Fl. 32746. People should subscribe now, just to compensate Ron for the fact that he has to sit through all those Fla. indie cards & WWF shows that come his way...he also promises to finally reveal what a "Sloewood" is...

ON THE ROAD TO PHILLY WITH GARY FISHMAN

I can't wait to pick up the next issue of WT&N so I can read about the next big card in Stuttgart, W. Germany- Evan really gets the news the fans are dying for...I hear NBC Nightly News is trying to hire him to cover Bobo Brazil's triumphant return to Northern Michigan...For all of you who want to read a real nostalgia bulletin, my new monthly bulletin comes out on the first--Wrestling- Now and Then...the cost will be .30¢ less than this publication...Actually I don't know how much this costs-Evan's too cheap to send me a copy...I'd like to take the opportunity to say what a pleasure it was driving back from the last Philly card with Between The Ropes' Adam Horowitz and his self-proclaimed co-editor Brad Burns...it was a pleasure finally dropping them off at the train station...they were very knowledgeable for two guys coming off drugs...I can remember when going to Philly was exciting because of the matches; now the highlight is hitting the all you can eat buffet at the Big Boys on the highway...By the way, I'm happy to say that I'm getting back with my wife...the pivotal moment in our reconciliation was when I walked into her house and realized that she no longer just had an ordinary t.v...she had CABLE...I would like to thank Brooklyn-Queens Cable for restoring a broken marriage...I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Dusty Rhodes on the birth of his 4th chin...Dusty has learned to make the best stupid faces in all of wrestling...Jeff Mullins' Sushi letter from the late Rikki Lawless to Ferk was the funniest thing I've read since Evan claimed he went on a date (Editor's note- at least the women I date don't have moustaches!)...My congratulations to Evan on his new job- his employer will be glad to know that nobody can make a toilet bowl shine better than Evan Ginzburg...at least he has a place to sit down and write his bulletin (EDITOR'S NOTE- Better to clean toilets than live in one!).

EVAN AND GARY IN PHILLY (A.K.A. RESULTS FROM HELL)

N.W.A. 5/27 6 Matches/2 Hours/A-1500/Mucho No-Shows/Worst live NWA show I've ever seen.

1. Doug Furnas W Cactus Jack 2* Slow paced. Mix of hot moves & rest-holds.
2. Norman W Dennis Allen -(negative)2* If I have to watch too many more matches like this, I'll end up in the State Hospital (and Gary will end up back there).
3. Mark Callous W Tom Zenk 3/4* Add Tom to the list of guys who have mastered the 4 minute armbar, the 6 minute head scissor...
4. Doom W Southern Boys 2* Not bad. Not great. Not worth 5 hrs. roundtrip travel!
5. Tommy Rich W Dutch Mantell. 1½* Crowd hostile already with almost everyone yelling "boring." I want to like Rich just for past glory but he looks shot. After match announcer Gary Capetta says that "if you keep it up, Dirty Dutch Mantell says he will beat up each and every one of you individually!".
6. Road Warriors & JYD W Flair, Wyndham, Arn Anderston DQ. 17 Min. They should have called this a "What's Wrong With This Picture Match," as JYD with his added 100 pounds of blubber stuck out like a sore thumb. He's so fat he can barely get down to the mat to do his dog shtick. Roadies act tired already. Not a bad match, but like the WWF shows I was numb already by this point! 3*

CARD NOTES- NWA had 2 shows that nite which means 2 bad cards/2 angry crowds of fans/2 bad attendances--Can somebody explain the logic here? I won't drive back... Card was so bad JYD threatened to jump to WWF if action didn't improve!

CURFEW

Sad to see the reported demise of Black Night Wrestling & Mr. Boyns' fine wrestling radio show...Pro Wrestling Torch goes weekly ($1.25 from Wade Keller, PO Box 201844, Minneapolis, MN. 55420- easily one of top 5 sheets out there!)...A "Save The Funker" campaign going on throughout fandom with fans writing to World Championship Wrestling- One CNN Center- Box 105366 Atlanta Ga. 30348-5366 to bring back Terry Funk waddya think- sounds good to me...Can the NWA be saved from ITSELF?...Our very own Scott Dickenson has some surprises in store in the future...Anyone who has accessto wrestling autographs keep me in mind...Bye for now...
